

WHAT A HAPPY WORLD THIS WILL BE

FEATURED BY WILLIAM GOLD

WORDS & MUSIC
BY HAROLD DIXON

PUBLISHED BY
DIXON-LANE PUB. CO.
ST. LOUIS - CHICAGO

Dedicated to my pal Joe Lane of Lane & Harper.

What a Happy World This Will Be

Words and Music by HAROLD DIXON

INTRODUCTION

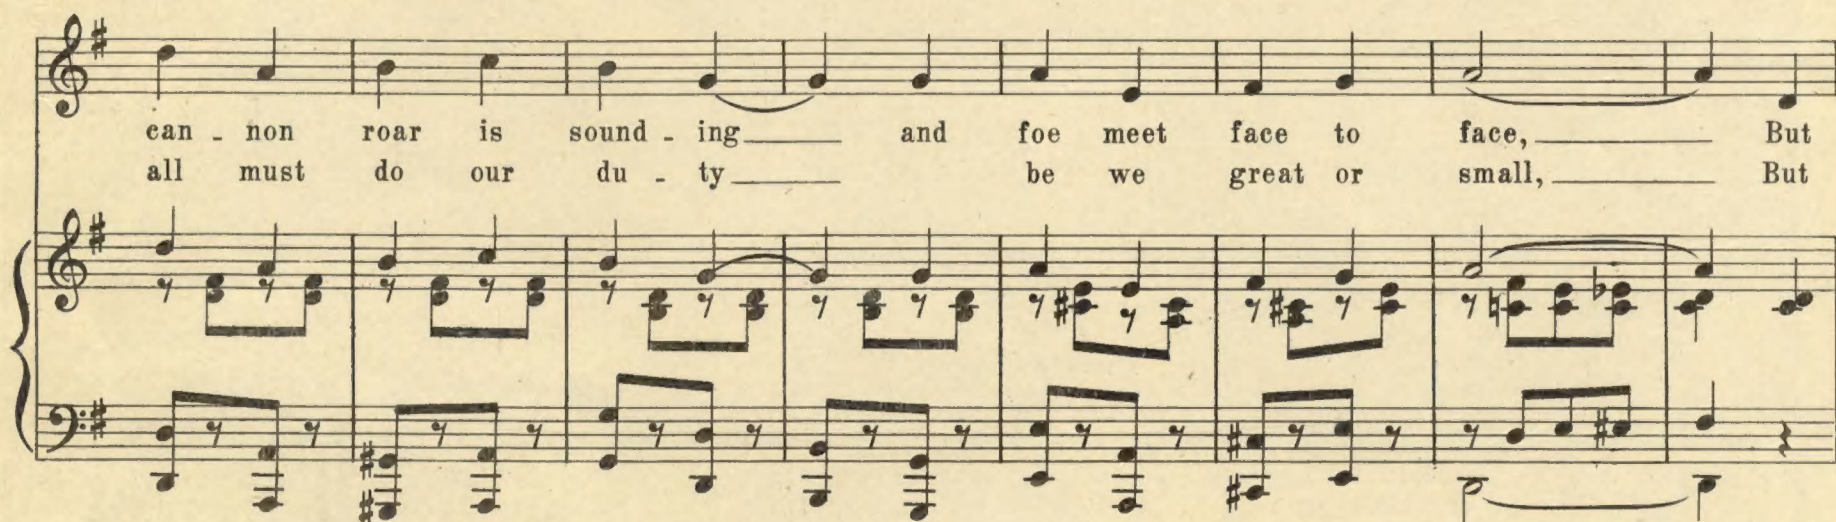

Marcia

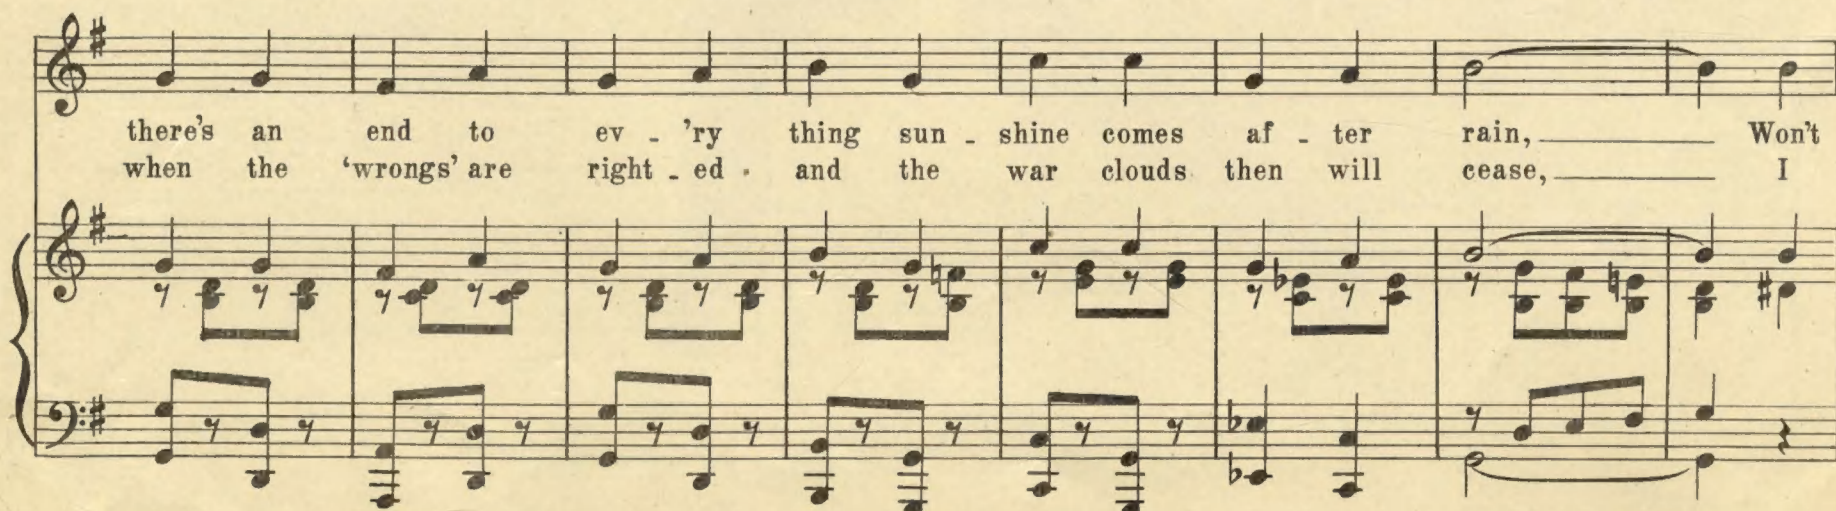

VOICE. Modto.

Where flow - ers once were bloom - ing, — a bat - tle now takes place, — The Each loy - al bro - ther an - swers — un - to his coun - try's call, — We can - non roar is sound - ing — and foe meet face to face, — But all must do our du - ty — be we great or small, — But there's an end to ev - 'ry thing sun - shine comes af - ter rain, — Won't when the 'wrongs' are right - ed . and the war clouds then will cease, — I ev - 'ry one be hap - py when there's peace on earth a - gain, _____ When the hope the ones who gave their lives may ev - er rest in peace, _____

CHORUS. Modto.

shot and shell has ceased to fire and there's no more loss of lives, _____ When the boys re - turn to their sweet hearts husbands come home to their wives, _____ When all mother's hearts are cheer - ful, _____ and there's free - dom of the sea _____ When they give Alsace Lor.

retard raine, back to France a - gain, What a hap - py world this will be. _____ When the be. _____

f a tempo

